New York, Aug. 7.—It was not exactly the decent, but it certainly was the necessary thing to do—beating the St. Louis Browns by such a score as 16 to 4. Two home runs heiped a lot.

As a result of to-day's victory, the Highlanders have a dozen straight victories to their credit, and every one of the dozen was worth while. To-day's triumph was accomplished by free hitting, smart bose running and the ability to take every advantage of the visitors' errore. They were many and varied.

Jack Powell pitched a pretty game for the Highlanders. This usually unsteady twirfer was in fine form, and, aided by the cleanest kind of support, he had the visitors at his mercy from start to finish. Powell has not pitched a better game this Powell has not pitched a better game this year.

Sudhoff was not such a puzzle to the local outfit, Griffith's men piling up sixteen hits off his delivery. It was something of a field day for Keeler and Dougherty, and these two were hard pressed for the batting honors by Conroy and Ebberfeld.

St. Louis managed to scratch two runs around in the opener, but the Highlanders came back promptly. They tied the score by tallying twice in the first inning. Both Conroy and Keeler drew bases on balis and Elberfeld followed with an easy grounder to Sudhoff. The St. Louis twirler tried to choke Conroy off at third, but his throw was the fraction of a second too late and the bases were filled.

"Pat" Dougherty strode up to the plate and slammed a hit to Sudhoff. The St. Louis twirler caught Conroy at the plate and became inordinately vain over his exploit. Spencer saw an opportunity to make a record play and short the ball to and became inordinately vain over his exploit. Spencer saw an opportunity to make a record play and shot the ball to first. In the hope of doubling Dougherty. The throw was uncontrollable, however, and Keeler trotted nonchalantly home. Meantime, Jones was digging up the dirt in pursuit of the ball. He manages to corral the globule and propel it home in time to choke off Elberfield right at the pan. WINNERS SCORE AT WILL.

Williams's single to center brought Dougherty bone and the score was even.
The visitors practically cave up the game,
however, for thereafter the local ball tossers scored aimost at will.
They made three more in the second session and, in the fifth, again counted triplets. As if this were not enough to satisfy any self-respecting team, the Highlanders simply made a hopeless jumble of the contest in the sixth.
McGuire was ensity disposed of, Starr to Jones, but the veteran's idea of courteous baseball did not find honor with his team.

Writtee pitched the last three fundages for New York, not allowing a hit. Attendance, 200. Score.

In addition to the entries for the Eastern championship in doubles closed to-night thirty-six pairs had sent in their names, a record breaking list. The doubles will be started to-morrow. Notwithstanding the heavy entry list in the singles event, all the matches in the first round, and twenty-seven in the second round had closed up when the play stopped.

The day was productive of no surprises, although several players who were picked to win were obliged to play extra sets, and one or two narrowly excaped defeat. Karl H. Behr, the Vale expert and winner of the Nahant tournament last week, was nearly put out by N. W. Hallowell, an old Harvard player.

The Great Republic, a weight-for-age stake, in which every horse starting will meet on absolutely even terms, will be run at Saratoga neat week. Sysonby and Artful, the great 3-year-old; Ort Welles, the star 4-year-old; Hermis, the mighty 6-year-old—in fact, great horses over 3 years old, will come together at a mile and a quarter for a fair test of speed and endurance.

If Ort Welles and Hermis come to the post fit, Americans will have a chance to guess how good a rare horse Sysonby is if he can take his weight from these good thoroughbreds and beat them handily he will be entitled to consideration as the horse of the young Twentieth Century.

There are those who hold that the unbeaten Artful, who won the only race which Sysonby lost, the Futurity of 18st, can beat the son of Melton, Perhaps! The race will tell.

Some enthusiastic mortals hold that Sysonby is another or greater Ormonda. There can be no doubt that Ormonde was the greatest horse that has ever raced to date. Keen comparison and analysis proves that Ormonde could give a ready pirst-class horse sixty pounds and a bearing. Minting, a great 3-year-old, and still greater 4-year-old, carried immense weights and won in fast time over the best horses of his 4-year-old year.

Minting never could make Ormonde extend himself. Ormonde went wrong in his wind and never raced after his 3-year-old form. Figuring on what he did to tend himself. Ormonde went wrong in his wind and never raced after his 3-year-old form. Figuring on what he did to Minting, and what Minting aid to others, and to weight, time and distance, Ormonde could carry 150 pounds to an average first-ciass borse's 160 and win.

Thou would be surprised at the ovalions being gives to Sulivan at San Francisco. Said he. "He first went to Fortiana to attend the Exposition. After making much money on The Trail he went to Frieco.

"At the latter place he opened a sn.oon. He is now making money. He is as peopulated to the street with the was the live idol in puglifistic circies."

Sulivan starred in a play for several, weeks in San Francisco before he opened his saloon, and played to packed houses day and night.

The reception being given to Sullivan in St. Louis visit. Here he could hardly bring out a small crowd, and a few weeks before his leparture from the city he could walk the streets without attracting attention.
